Voters uphold City Council in referendum vote

Campbell voters on Tuesday went to the polls in the first referendum election in this city's 18-year history and by a 1164 to 918 vote upheld the City Council in a rezoning action affecting property owned by the Winchester Drive-in Theater.

In a surprisingly high turnout for a special city election, 2082 voters cast ballots, representing almost 21% of the registered voters in the city.

The referendum election was called by the City Council after enough signatures had been obtained on petitions opposing the zoning ordinance that had been adopted by a 4-1 vote of the City Council.

The slim 264-vote margin upholding the City Council allows the six-acre parcel adjacent to the theater to remain zoned M-1-S (light industrial) as specified in the ordinance that was adopted July 27.

THIS COLUMN, AS WE have told you so many times before, is a sort of catch-all. There is no telling what is going to appear in it from time to time.

There is a good reason for that. Often we don't know either until we have started to write it.

Take this week as a f'instance.

The office has just received the newest edition of the Polk's City Directory. Naturally, as most of us do, (even with the advent of a new phone directory), we fleetingly perused it contents.

For the benefit of the uninitiated, the Polk's directory lists the residents of the area with their occupations (most of the time). It also has a breakdown of the streets with house numbers and names of occupants.

It is of invaluable assistance in the verification of addresses, etc.

And, of course, we use it all the time, although it has a tendency to make us a trifle careless at times in covering meetings.

You see, we figure if we hear the address of someone, and although the name is sort of garbled, all we have to do when we get back to the office is to check dear ol' Polk.

Sometimes, of course, Polk has erred. Or the name we have been looking for has been omitted.

Still it is the best source we have found and we have subscribed quite consistently to the service over the years.

But to get back to the point of all this.

BY SOME QUIRK OF character which we won't go into at this time, we have kept most of the directories that the office has purchased since 1958.

We are well aware that it is sort of silly to use up needed space with a library composed of out-dated city directories.

In an area like this which has changed so radically in the last 12 years, a five or 10-year-old directory bears little resemblance to the 1970 version.

But it is interesting to refer, say, to the 1958 edition and see what "old-timers" are still around and, if they were doing their same thing in 1958 as they are in 1970.

Admittedly we have a weakness for stuff like that. We spend far too much time in our "research" sometimes to the detriment of more productive activities.

THEREFORE, IN ORDER to salvage something out of this time-consuming perusal, we use this column to report our "findings".

But we must be careful.

We forgot to mention that Polk, in most cases, lists the wife's name in parenthesis after the man's.

In 12 years, obviously, the marital status may have undergone some modifications. In quite a few cases the 1970 edition lists a different gal's name (in parenthesis) after the guy's name than what was in the 1958 book.

Tempus fugit.

But back to our "research".

-0-

FOR NO EARTHLY REASON, except probably for the same one that keeps a person glued to some of those horrible late-late shows on TV, we did a cursory, but correlated, check on some familiar names in both the 1958 and 1970 Polk directories.

We took Homer Hyde and found that in 1958 he was listed as secretary-manager of the Campbell Water Co.

In 1970 he was secretary-general manager of the same company with a different home address.

Council to hold hearing Monday on new concept for residences

Campbell's City Council next Monday (Dec. 14) is scheduled to act on a new concept in single-family residential development for the city, when a public hearing is held on the zone change application submitted by Kunkel-Thomas, local developers, for property located at Sunnyoaks and Hacienda.

The development firm plans to construct 29 single-family houses with a central recreational area using the "zero-lot-line" approach on lots that are less than the 6000-square foot city minimum.

After a long study, the Planning Commission approved the zone change on the area (from R-1 to P-D) and that action is now up for Council approval or denial. A duplex development for the property had been previously rejected by the city.

During the many hearings on the zone change request, residents from the adjacent areas were in attendance to express their views on the new idea for residential development. Most of the residents were concerned over whether the proposal provided adequate controls for maintenance and deterioration. They emphasized they did not want another "Jean Drive" development in the area.

The Council next Monday is scheduled to award the contract for the public address system for the new city hall. Three bids that have been submitted will be reviewed by the special staff committee, headed by Police Chief John Morgan, prior to the meeting.

Next Monday, also, the Council is expected to set the ground rules for reviewing applications for the position of city attorney.

City Attorney Joe Bonacina, who has been the city's legal counsel since the city was incorporated in 1952, has submitted his resignation, effective on Dec. 31.

BOARD DISMISSES CITIZEN'S COMMITTEE

Business manager defends financial status of Campbell School District

It was not an error, but an over-estimate, C. E. Bradley, business manager of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District, claimed last Thursday night in explaining the charge made by the Citizen's Advisory Finance Committee that there was a $953,466 error in the 1969-70 school district budget.

Bradley further maintained that the "over-estimate" was only $359,124 and not the $955,466 as submitted by the citizen's group.

The business manager, whom the committee had orally recommended be dismissed, made his explanation at a special school board meeting held at Rolling Hills School for the purpose of reviewing the financial status of the district and the report of the Citizen's Advisory Finance Committee.

Approximately 200 people were in attendance at the meeting at which the explanation by the business manager of the budgetary problems of the district and his answers to some of the questions contained in the citizen's report was the main feature for the evening.

NO REBUTTAL

No opportunity was given members of the Citizen's Advisory Finance Committee for rebuttal or to expand on any of the 20 points listed in the report.

In a written statement issued by the committee at the meeting, it was pointed out that the board had invited the committee to attend but had not specified that the committee should participate.

The statement emphasized also that the committee members desired an item-by-item discussion and action on the itemized recommendations of the committee.

However, the majority of the board indicated that they felt Bradley's statement was a satisfactory answer to some of the points raised by the committee.

Items dealing with personnel would have to be dealt with in executive sessions while other points (e.g. bidding procedures, etc.) were already being modified.

COMMITTEE DISMISSED

Dr. Richard MacQuiddy, after calling on board members for comments and questions of Bradley's presentation, then moved that the committee be dismissed with thanks.

Trustees Ralph Steinberg and Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong voted with MacQuiddy while Trustee Judy Ruscigno opposed. (Trustee Jim Gilliland was absent.)

Mrs. Ruscigno, in opposing the motion for dismissal, maintained that the recommendations of the committee should be acted on first. She also added that in a previous meeting, the board majority had refused to accept the resignations of three committee mem-

School board meets Thursday at Cypress

Cypress School will be the setting for the last regular meeting of 1970 for the board of trustees of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District this Thursday (Dec. 10).

The meeting is slated to begin at 7 p.m.

Cypress School is located at 403 S. Cypress, San Jose, off San Tomas Expressway near Stevens Creek.

Board meetings since October have been held in various schools in the district because the board room in the administration building cannot accomodate the crowds that have been in attendance.

Among the items on the agenda for Thursday's meeting, under communications, is a resolution from the Campbell Chamber of Commerce expressing concern over the financial status of the district as revealed by the Citizen's Advisory Finance Committee and asking that the board take action on the points raised by the committee.

Ironically, at the special board meeting on Dec. 3, by a 3-1 vote, the committee was dismissed without any discussion on a point-by-point basis as had been requested by the committee.

Postal hours

Hours for customer service at the Campbell post office have been extended for the holiday season, Dick Adams, officer-in-charge, reported this week.

For the next two weeks, the office will be open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on the two Saturdays (Dec. 12, 19) from 8:30 a.m. to 5:15 p.m.

On Thursday, Dec. 24, the office will be open from 8:45 a.m. to 5:15 p.m.

Eight new directors to go on CofC board

Eight new directors have been elected to two-year terms as a result of balloting the Chamber of Commerce members. With eight hold-over directors they will comprise the board for the next year.

According to Len Edholm, CofC manager, 110 ballots were returned, out of approximately 350, a higher than average return. There were 14 candidates.

The new directors will take office at the Jan. 7 board meeting when officers will be elected. They will be installed at the annual installation dinner dance on Jan. 22 at Villa Felice. Superior Court Judge Richard W. (Dusty) Rhodes will be the installing officer.

Slated to take over the gavel from retiring president Bob Bullard is Norm Paul, co-owner of the Plaza Theaters, who served as first vice-president the past year. Bullard will also serve on the board as immediate past president.

In addition to the president, the directors, on Jan. 7, will name first and second vice-presidents and treasurer.

Paul and Al LaPlante, New York Life representative, were reelected as directors this year. The other six named were: Jim Baker, attorney; Lowell Grattan, developer; Bob Telle-

Unsatisfactory

One of the most confusing and frustrating situations in the beleagured Campbell Union (elementary) School District, beset by a recall movement against two trustees (Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong and Ralph Steinberg) as well as financial woes, is the role that was played by the Citizens Advisory Finance Committee.

We say "was played" because, apparently, the committee by action of three trustees, Richard MacQuiddy, Steinberg and Mrs. Graham-Armstrong, is no longer in existence.

The committee was dismissed with thanks on the motion of MacQuiddy, school board president, who came at the close of a special board meeting which specified that (and we quote from the agenda): "The purpose of this meeting is to give the Board an opportunity to review the financial status of the district and the report of the Citizens Advisory Finance Committee. It is not the intent of this meeting that any comments be made which will discredit any individual or cause his character to be degraded."

All well and good.

Except that, in our opinion, the 3½-hour session of the school board failed miserably to accomplish the purpose that had been set forth in the agenda statement.

Most of the meeting was devoted to C. E. Bradley, the district business manager, who explained in detail how a school district's budget was made up and then presented his own answers to some of the points covered in the report of the Citizens Advisory Finance Committee.

Board members then asked Bradley a number of questions pertaining to his report. Following that exchange, MacQuiddy and Steinberg barely touched on the summary of recommendations consisting of 20 points of the citizens' committee. Then MacQuiddy made his motion to dismiss the committee with thanks. No opportunity was granted the committee members to respond to the presentation made by Bradley.

In voting against the motion of dismissal, Trustee Judy Ruscigno pointed out that, at a previous meeting, MacQuiddy, Steinberg and Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong had refused to accept the resignations of three of the committee members because the board had not had time to act on the recommendations made by the committee.

She maintained that the board still had not acted on them.

Steinberg and MacQuiddy, however, claimed that the board had "acted" at that meeting.

We feel, however, along with many others who were in the audience that night, that there are many unanswered questions remaining from the citizens report which need public scrutiny.

We concede that some of the points dealing with personalities should be dealt with in closed executive sessions. But the committee, now by board action, does not exists. So now what happens?

We make no assertion of being an expert in the field of school finance.

We do not claim that the points made by the Citizens Advisory Committee are without flaw.

But we would like to know more about them.

We are not satisfied with this one-way street approach, i.e., allowing the explanation given by the business manager without any rebuttal to be the final word. There is too much at stake.

Therefore, without comment, we publish the 20-point summary of the recommendations of the Citizens Advisory Finance Committee as presented to the Board of Trustees and distributed at the Dec. 3 meeting:

SUBJECT: Summary of Recommendations by Citizens' Advisory Finance Committee (Preliminary Report, Final Report and Oral Recommendations)

TO: Board of Trustees, Campbell Union School District.

FROM: Citizens' Advisory Finance Committee

DATE: November 29, 1970

1. Certified Employees' 1970-71 requests:
   a. Grant sabbatical leave with no travel.
   b. Deny emergency leave time as employee has access to the Board and has received just consideration in the past.
   c. Deny employment of additional teachers at cost of $200,000 for 4th through 6th grades to assist in teacher preparation time.
   d. Deny increased salaries, but distribute excess funds at year end.
2. Conduct "meet and confer" sessions with employees in open public sessions except by mutual consent of both parties.
3. Have more than only the superintendent as the Board's designee to "meet and confer" sessions.
4. "Meet and confer" sessions on salaries and fringe benefits to be conducted between October 1 and March 1.
5. Salary increases not budgeted for should not deplete Undistributed Reserve below 5% of the General Fund total budget.
6. Improve bidding procedures as recommended in our final report.
7. The Board to review all bids for the past two years.
8. Conduct a complete audit.
9. Hold 5% of the General Fund in Undistributed Reserve for emergency, errors and catastrophies.
10. Adjust Food Services receivables.
11. Increase cost of meals or budget for assistance, since Food Services cannot operate on current income.
12. The Committee could not recommend a tax election prior to September, 1971.
13. A tax election must be held successfully prior to June, 1972 to maintain current tax rate.
14. Adjustment of uncollectable Receivables should be made.
15. Changes in job descriptions for classified employees is necessary.
16. Approximately $10,000 for 19 schools referred to as "Other" items that was red-lined from the budget should be reinstated.
17. The position of Director of Instruction should be reinstated.
19. Reinstate maintenance items from the 1968 Maintenance Survey Report that were deleted.
20. A public statement is in order as to why there was a $953,466 error in the 1969-70 budget.

bers on the basis that the report had not yet been acted on by the board.

Steinberg, however, argued that the board had "acted" that night. The motion carried by a 3-1 vote.

COMMITTEE REPORT

In the committee's summary of its recommendations, (published on the editorial page in this issue), the last item concerned the $953,466 error in the 1969-70 budget which Bradley claimed was an "over-estimate" and was only $359,124.

The board majority apparently felt that Bradley's complicated fiscal explanation of the situation was satisfactory.

The business manager submitted that he had been "over-generous" in his estimate of income from unsecured roll taxes that particular year.

He also took exception to the manner in which the committee had arrived at the "shortage" figures and showed by his own calculations that the figure was really only $359,124.

Bradley also took exception to a number of other charges made in the committee's report and maintained that the finances of the district were not in a chaotic condition as had been charged.

He disagreed with the committee's contention that the $21 million in increased assessed valuation was a "windfall" that saved the district.

He claimed that the $40,000 cash balance at the end of the year was not "desperate", although not enviable either. It had happened before, he said, and two years later the balance was up to a million dollars.

He noted also that the voters in the district had not approved a tax increase for more than seven years.

Bradley submitted also that he had recommended changes in the district's bidding procedures and he denied any irregularities in the district paving contract made last year.

D'AVIS EXPLAINS

Jim D'Avis, acting district superintendent, in a summary near the close of the meeting, said that the district was financially sound. The district's budget was tight, he explained, and it would not allow for any addition of educational operational equipment.

He added that unless there was a successful tax election, the district tax rate would revert in June, 1972, to $1.08 per $100 assessed valuation, which would mean that the district would lose approximately $1.25 million in revenue, representing more than 25% of its general fund.

He explained also that only those teachers on regular schedules for length of service received increases this year. He added, however, that salary schedules of the district would have to be competitive with other districts in order to attract and hold good teachers.

He mentioned that the district had received about 3000 inquiries for 44 openings this fall.

D'Avis emphasized also that the county office of education had reported that the district should receive within 1% of its budgeted income during 1970-71 which would provide between $500,000 to $600,000 in reserves.

QUESTIONS

About 10 written questions were submitted by members of the audience relative to the financial picture. MacQuiddy, in fielding them, explained in most cases that they already had been answered and personnel matters would have to be referred to executive sessions.

When he suggested that some of the questions should be referred to the Citizen's Advisory Finance Committee for recommendations, he was reminded that, by the board's action, the committee no longer existed.

Mrs. Ruscigno, during the question period, pressed Bradley for further explanation on some of the points contained in the report of the citizen's committee.

She also questioned the timing of the depositing of the district's reserve funds which resulted in a loss in income from interest.

Steinberg asked Bradley for his opinion as to what effect the unemployment situation and other economic factors would have on the tax delinquency.

The business manager indicated that he did not think that it would be a big factor. MacQuiddy also wondered what a 1% delinquency would mean in dollars. But Bradley said he could not estimate that without further research.

MORE ABOUT

George Vierhus was listed as president of the Campbell Publishing Co., Inc. in 1958 and publisher of the Campbell Press in 1970. The same difference. (The Vierhus's had moved from one side of town in the meantime.)

Then we took the make-up of the present City Council. Bill Smeed was listed as a lawyer in 1958 with offices in the BofA building in San Jose and in 1970 the same way and with the same home address both years.

Dr. Ed Rogers was professor at San Jose State in 1958 and in 1970 as a member of the City Council (he is still a prof. at State) and with the same home address both years.

Dean Chamberlin, according to the 1958 directory was principal of Camden High School and in 1970 was listed as mayor of Campbell. (He is still a high school district administrator). The Chamberlins also moved from one part of town to another in those 12 years.

Neither Ralph Doetsch nor Bill Podgorsek were listed in 1958, although Ralph had been around the area a long time before that. (Shucks, he went to Los Gatos High.)

We double-checked and found 'em, both Bill and Ralph, in the 1965 directory. Podgorsek was listed with the Spartan Printing Co. in 1965 and no change in 1970.

Doetsch, however, in 1965 was listed as a member of the City Council and in 1970 as an "orchardist". (He is still on the Council, of course.)

Only two, Norm Paul and Holly Vollenweider, of the 16 CofC directors (including the eight who were just elected) were in the 1958 book.

Holly's real estate firm has been around quite a spell.

Norm, co-owner of the Plaza Theaters in 1970, in 1958 was with KSJO broadcasting station. He had the same home address both years.

WE ARE WELL AWARE that most of you may not be a bit interested in or impressed by this research into trivia that we have undertaken.

But look at it this way.

If you had spent as much time as we did in thumbing through the pages in those directories, wouldn't you feel frustrated, if you couldn't do something with the vital (?) information you had garnered to sorta offset the time that was devoted to this humanitarian effort.

There may be, of course, some hidden value to all this which we have yet to discover.

On the other hand, don't you sometimes feel guilty when you have sort of spun your wheels for a while and the hands of the clock have kept on advancing while you were spinning and you have nothing to show for the time expended?

You see how handy this column can be.

THERE WAS ONE MORE listing in both directories that we should mention because the entire staff at our joint enjoyed it.

It concerns the second in command at The Campbell Press, Brent Ulrich, assistant publisher and production manager.

The 1970 Polk directory lists Brent as assistant publisher.

In 1958 when Brent was still a student at Campbell High, his occupation was, according to the good book, "printer's devil" at The Campbell Press.

We won't try to expand on that.

AS AN OLD PRO WHO has attended more meetings of boards, councils, commissions, et al, than we care to enumerate, we suppose it is only natural that we are always looking for bright spots to relieve the boredom of the humdrum routine that generally is the rule rather than the exception.

That was the case, for example, the other night when C.E. (Brad) Bradley, the business manager, had expounded in length about the financial intricacies of the Campbell Union School District at the special school board meeting.

It was Trustee Eleanor Graham-Armstrong, who is one of the two trustees facing recall, who offered the bit of self-effacing humor that helped to enliven the dreary evening.

The other three trustees present, Richard MacQuiddy, Ralph Steinberg and Judy Ruscigno, had already commented on Bradley's presentation and the finance committee's recommendations when MacQuiddy asked Eleanor if she had anything to say.

Eleanor replied that she had no comment to make.

She said she preferred just to appear stupid rather than to open her mouth and prove it.

Residents seek safeguards from industry areas

Concern expressed by residents in the immediate area of the proposed development of West Valley Construction Co. at 580 McGlincey Lane was instrumental in causing the Planning Commission on Monday night to defer action on the application of the firm.

In a letter to the Commission, Paul M. Barber, of 680 Parkdale, claimed that a residential area that was once considered one of Campbell's nicest was now being exposed to industrial activity in nearby areas on a 24-hour basis.

He pointed out the need for safety barriers between the industrial action and residences, a solid evergreen buffer and restrictions on hours of activity.

Mrs. Norbert Toczyl, 690 Parkdale, and Mrs. Jack Osorio, of 681 Parkdale, were among the residents from the area in the audience who emphasized the problems created by the noise and fumes from the industrial area.

The residents cited the need for adequate landscaping and other barriers.

College ethnic studies program adds six new courses

Six new courses were added to West Valley College's ethnic studies program Thursday night. These courses are in addition to the college's existing courses in this field.

Thursday night the board approved the following courses: art of Mexico, Mexican music and its history, black literature, Spanish for the Spanish speaking, history of Mexico in the colonial period and Mexican-American history.

Other courses added to the curriculum were in the areas of electronics, food services and microbiology.

The development of the ethnic courses was accomplished through the joint efforts of students of ethnic groups and faculty members working with the cooperation of various disciplines and divisions on the campus over the past two years.

In other action Thursday night, the board:

1. Granted a two-year leave of absence to social science instructor Richard Hayden, who was elected at the Nov. 3 election to represent the 22nd district in the state assembly, effective Jan. 1. 1971.

2. Appointed four additional persons to the district's citizens' advisory committee, including Dr. E. M. Thomas, Jr., Carl W. Ketchum, Mark Guerra, and Rev. Lawrence Whitfield.

3. Appointed Mrs. Carol Monroe Neill, supervisor of cafeterias at the Alum Rock Union Elementary School District's food services and restaurant management advisory committee.

4. Accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. Nancy Sefton, English instructor, effective Jan. 31, 1971, and reclassified Miss Sharon Miner as purchasing clerk.

5. Approved membership of West Valley College in the Inter-District Planning Council, which is composed of school districts throughout the county. It is hoped that through this council a more coordinated effort will be made relative to community development and school facility development.

The class of 1972 is breaking a tradition when it presents its annual Junior Prom, "A Time for Us", Jan. 30, beginning at 7:30.

Juniors have planned a dinner dance to be held at the "Little New Yorker".

"Chosen Few" will provide the music during the dinner and after for dancing.

The price of the bids are $14 per couple. This includes hors d'oeuvres, dinner and dancing.

Reservations have been made for 300 people.

FOOD BASKETS

Action Realty, whose main office is located at 1820 W. Campbell Ave., has chosen to fill food baskets this holiday season in lieu of the traditional party. Their goal is to fill 50 baskets to be distributed to needy families.

WE HAD FUN--Sonny and Maria, two children from Temple Emanu-El's Head Start program evidence, by their faces, how much fun they had spending a day at West Valley College's Child Development Center.

Head Start children

Visit college campus

The life of an Indian child was aptly demonstrated for the pre-schoolers of West Valley College's Child Development Center when they recently played host to a group of Indian pre-schoolers from the Temple Emanu-El Head Start center in San Jose.

It began with a unit on Indians developed by Mrs. Evelyn Weisberg, director of the center, and a number of her staff, including Mrs. Linda Stanger, head teacher, Miss Denise Chamberlain, assistant, and the many student assistants in the nursery school assistant program at the college.

During the course of the unit the children built a totem pole, an Indian tepee, and tasted food that had been dried as Indians of long ago might have prepared it.

In addition they crushed corn with a mortar and pestel made of stone and made katchina dolls of spools and assorted odds and ends.

As a culminating event to the unit, Mrs. Weisberg and Mrs. Frances Maxey, head teacher of the Temple Emanu-El Head Start group, had the Indian children visit the children's center, located on the Saratoga campus. The Indian children brought their native costumes as did their teachers.

The children then explained their dress to their peers and also demonstrated some Indian dances they are in the process of learning.

The two groups of children then joined together to sing some songs and share in refreshments. Mrs. Weisberg described the visit as "a most exciting day and a fitting climax" to the informative unit.

The child development center is part of the college's family life science department. Plans are now underway for the spring semester. Some of the classes to be offered include child growth and development; child, family, school and community; creative crafts for children; and administration and supervision of the nursery school in the extended day (evening) program; and child growth and development; elementary rhythms; creative crafts; supervisory activities in the nursery school; and nursery school practice during day instruction.

Registration procedures and information may be obtained by calling the admissions and records office 379-1733, ext. 64.

Those desiring more information about the nursery school program may contact Mrs. Weisberg at 867-2208 at the Saratoga campus of the college.

WORKING TOGETHER--Sonny and Mark found that no matter where they go to school working a puzzle together is fun. The youngsters participated in a day-long event in which children from West Valley College's Child Development Center played host to Indian children from Temple Emanu-El's Head Start program.

COMBINED CHOIR --- Mrs. Evelyn Weiberg, director of West Valley College's Child Development Center, leads children from the center and those from Temple Emanu-El's Head Start program in singing an Indian song. The two groups enjoyed a day of learning Indian lore.

Baha'i Community makes awards

The Baha'i Community of Campbell was notified recently of awards made by the U. S. Baha'i Community in connection with International Education Year (1970). The Children's Television Workshop and Dr. James L. Olivero each received the 1970 Louis G. Gregory Award for Service to Humanity.

The Children's Television Workshop of New York City was selected for the award because of its production of the television series "Sesame Street" and its other efforts on behalf of education.

The award, established in 1968 by the U. S. National Baha'i Assembly, is named in honor of a black American who served on the first U.S. National Baha'i administrative body and who was a leader in human rights efforts during the early years of this century.

Local Baha'i Home Firesides are held on Sundays at 8 p.m. at 397 Union, Apt. G, on Wednesdays at 532 N. Central No. 7, and Thursdays at 532 N. Central, No. 6.

West Valley Sports

By Dick Sparrer

CAGERS NAB FIESTA CROWN

The West Valley College basketballers really know how to open a season right. The Vikings put together back-to-back wins in their third and fourth games of the season to bring in an early championship in the San Jose City College hosted Fiesta Classic last weekend.

Valley will be out in search of two more wins as they journey to Sacramento next weekend to challenge the Sacramento State junior varsity and American River in non-league play. The Vikes will bounce back Tuesday when they battle Ohlone on the Renegades court at 8 p.m.

"Sacramento's JV's should provide a good ballgame. They're not a frosh team, they have a couple of juniors and sophomores," according to WVC head Coach Larry Jennings. "And American River has the best team they've had in a long time."

Two come - from - behind wins sparked the Vikings to a Fiesta title at the Jaguar home. A 62-60 win over Foothill in the final seconds Friday night and a 71-70 triumph over San Jose with a little more than a minute left Saturday night gave Valley their first gold of 1970-71.

"I think it was a great team effort," added Jennings. "There were some good signs as we really put it together after being behind."

Joe Gallagher, Buchser Product, Mike Berch, (Buchser) and Doug Oliver (Leigh) led WVC to the title. Gallagher and Berch were each tagged to the all-tourney team while Oliver was cited by Jennings as "a strong leader and sharp defensive player."

BOOTERS HONORED

Mike Mullenberg and Dan Torres both took first team All-Western Junior College Soccer Conference honors in balloting of the conference coaches last week as the two sparked the West Valley College Vikings to a 7-6-1 WJCSC record and fourth place berth and a 9-7-1 season mark.

Mullenberg, a Los Gatos High grad and last year a second team all-leaguer, was tagged an all-leaguer for his defensive efforts while freshman Torres of Santa Clara High took offensive laurels.

Paul Allen (Saratoga) and Virgil Gray, (Campbell), both Vike lettermen, were named to the second team defensively and offensively, respectively, while frosh Ron Lopez, (Camden) grabbed honorable mention standing.

Allen and Mullenberg were team co-captains and Torres the squads most valuable player. Mullenberg garnered most inspirational player gold for the 1970 season.

HARRIERS SIXTH

The Camino Norte Conference champion West Valley College cross-country team went all out in 1970 to make it their best-ever year in the existence of the school. The Vikings went on to grab a second in Northern California and a sixth in the state.

Valley defeated all NorCal squads in rambling to a state sixth, being outclassed only by southern powers. Les DeVoe, WVC's top runner of the year, ended 17th out of the 80 man field while Keith Kruse finished 29th.

"It was a real pleasing performance," assessed Vike head coach Bill Campbell. "One thing that makes it all outstanding is that three of our top five finishers are freshmen. That gives indications for possible strength next year."

DeVoe (Buchser) and Dan Cruz (Wilcox), 37th, are the only sophomores while Kruse (Camden), Jim Everard, 41st, and Gordon Blackwell (Saratoga), 45th, are all freshmen who should return to the fold for the 1971 year.

Letters to the Editor

FINAL CHAPTER

Gentlemen,

This is the third and, I hope, the final chapter in the towing-away serial.

To recap briefly, my car was towed away from the Campbell Shopping Center with just purchased groceries in it. The next week, the manager of Key Market, Mr. Cangiamilla, wrote that he would return any towed vehicle if the owner would show him a cash register tape, proving he was a shopper on that day.

I read his letter and called him, asking him to refund my $27.50.

He was very understanding and more than willing to repay me. He is strongly opposed to the towing service and it is very unfortunate that Key Market was involved when the towing company was contacted.

Mr. Cangiamilla showed me that he was sincerely supporting his statement in the paper. I am more than willing to support him, his position and his store.

Thank you,
Beverly Maxwell

DARTING AROUND

by Tom Carroll

DOUBLES TOURNAMENT

Pizza and darts were the order of business last Wednesday night as the Black Knight played host to the South Bay League's preliminaries for the Doubles Championship of the Northern California Darts Assn. Eighteen teams competed for the right to go north and represent the South Bay League in the finals next Sunday.

Des Maples and Roy Haslam of Banbury Clock I took first place by defeating the team of Phil Kelly (Clock II) and Jim "Robb" Robbins (Gaslighter II) in the semi final. Tom Lawrence and Syd Joselyn of Lancashire Lad II nosed ahead of Don Rhodes and John Forbes of Lad I.

The alternate teams were: Ray Hingston and Des Banks (Lad I); Conrad Messmer and Bob Knipe (Black Knight); Rick Miller and Dave Pena (Clock I); and Eric Branthwaite and Dave Ingols (Lad I).

There were many hi-lites during the games. Four players shot 140 high scores; Frank Malsbury (Lad II), Dave Ingols, Eric Branthwaite and Dave Pena.

While the team of Ingols and Branthwaite was shooting an 18 dart game on one board, the team of Miller and Pena was shooting a 17 dart game on the other side of the room. Doubles matches start at 501 instead of 301.

MID-SEASON

The halfway point has been reached in the winter schedule of games. Six of the eight teams in the South Bay League are competing for the "Most Improved Team" trophy. The only teams not eligible are the Gaslighter Theater I and the Banbury Clock I. Gaslighter Theater II has the hardest road to go as they are 28 games behind first place Gaslighter I and nine games behind seventh place Clock II.

Gary Curtaz of Bull and Bush III holds the season high score of 180. That's a perfect score of three triple 20's.

Willy Buhl of the Black Knight threw this same perfect combination in the non-league Saturday afternoon Banbury Clock tournament to defeat Kenny "Tora, Tora" Tanaka.

In the last night of league play the Gaslighter I team staged a fantastic finish to their team game with Lad I The Lad team was shooting for its double out with the Gaslighter having 217 points still on the board.

Jim Macredes of Gaslighter I shot a 123 leaving a score of 94. The Lad still didn't get its out so Kip Fanjoy shot a 94 out in two darts (triple 18, double 20). That was 217 points scored in five darts.

NEW DART STORE

For some time now Jerry Fontanetti has been using part of the old cannery downtown as a warehouse for his Fontanetti Sporting Goods. If anybody has been walking around in that area they heard a lot of hammering going on.

New doors and a new sign will be added to the facilities before it opens as a retail store next Monday. While the address is 30 S. Central, the entrance is on the railroad track side of the building. A full line of darts, darting accessories and dart boards will be available as well as a complete line of other sporting items.

This will be the third store for Fontanetti whose other stores are located at 1080 Saratoga Ave. and in the Princeton Plaza, Kooser and Blossom Hill Rd.

Now if we can just talk Ken Romming into putting his dart boards back up at the Bodega and with two boards and two games at the Gaslighter Theater, downtown Campbell is fast becoming the center of darting activities in the South Bay area.

Dolphin moves to new pet center

Would you like the responsibility of putting hundreds of representatives from countries throughout the world together, and then have to make certain they all got along with each other?

To most of us that would be an impossible assignment, but to Bart Fenolio, owner of Dolphin Aquarium in Campbell, it's all in a day's work.

More than three hundred different fish from two dozen countries are on display in Fenolio's store, and keeping them fed and in healthy condition might be compared to being the director of food services for the United Nations.

"The tropical fish hobby is one of the fastest growing pastimes in the Santa Clara Valley," says Fenolio. "National studies show that only stamp collecting and photography have more popularity among Americans. However, here in the San Jose–Campbell area, I think the raising of pets in general is running close to the top," he explains.

Fenolio is opening his new Dolphin Aquarium in Kirkwood Plaza this week, in conjunction with the opening of Dolphin Pet Village, a complex of three different pet oriented businesses all under one roof. Each shop is designed to serve the needs of valley residents either owning or hoping to own a new pet—whether they want an exotic fish from Malaysia; a pet from Africa, or just to get some medicine for the family dog.

The new pet center is reputedly the "only one of its kind in the world", according to Fenolio. "Brenda Turnbull, my sister, and I first got the idea about three years ago," he explains.

"At the time we were partners in the original Dolphin Aquarium, but as our tropical fish business grew, we had more and more people coming in and asking about the care and feeding of other family pets they owned. We were very quickly convinced that pet owners in the area did not have access to completely professional pet information, and that was why we developed our plans for the Dolphin Pet Center here in Kirkwood Plaza."

The new Dolphin Aquarium features an unusual nautical decor, and hobbyists select their fish from more than 100 tanks located along the sides of a simulated sunken ship that has been built into the store. The aquarium offers one of the largest selections of tropical fish on the West Coast, and displays the most unique collection of marine tropical fish that can be found anywhere in the U. S., the West Coast or wherever.

In addition to the fish store, Dr. Rene Accornero, a veterinary doctor, has opened a complete veterinary service facility in the Pet Village. A doctor's operating room for serious animal care cases and clinical examination rooms to serve patients have been installed.

Adjacent to the doctor's office is the Dolphin Pet and Grooming store, operated by Mrs. Turnbull, a brightly lighted, carpeted pet shop that features animals and birds from foreign countries, many unusual species from the United States and a fine selection of domestic birds, cats, and dogs. Brenda is highly skilled in raising pets and has shown many of her prize Weimaraners and Springer Spaniels throughout the west.

"We're confident the Dolphin Pet Village can cater to all the needs of any pet enthusiast," Fenolio says, "and we look forward to meeting and serving many pet and tropical fish hobbyists"

CAMPBELL TROOP 317

Campbell's Boy Scout Troop No. 317 is promoting an idea to help reduce traffic accidents. Using the theme "A Flare with Every Spare," Troop No. 317 is appealing to friends and neighbors to carry 15-minute safety flares in their auto trucks along with their spare tire.

Recommended by the National Safety Council and used by state highway patrols and law enforcement officers, the flares are emergency signals that enable stranded motorists to warn oncoming traffic. Safe, and easy to store and use, each flare burns for 15 minutes with a bright red light.

As part of their safe driving campaign and as a fund raising project for the purpose of sending many scouts to summer camp, Troop No. 317 will make a door-to-door call on homes within the Campbell - San Jose neighborhoods offering the safety flares in packets of two at a special price of $1.00.

The Safety Campaign and Fund Drive will begin Saturday, Dec. 19, and end on Dec. 24.

Bringing up fido

A program "for the strong stomach" was presented by Pets In Need to a group of dog breeders recently.

The topic was murder.

Only the real assassins were not in the film.

Most of them are good friends of yours.

Pets In Need is the organization that advertises in many papers, "Lost or found a pet?".

The program they presented was an eight or ten minute film, taken at a pound in a nearby county.

It showed the extermination of dogs — Big dogs, little dogs, frightened dogs, litters of cuddly little puppies, licking the hand that was dumping them into a gigantic chamber, one on top of another, and slamming down the lid.

One spectator remarked, as they opened the door and bodies came grotesquely tumbling out, "Looks like Dachau, doesn't it?"

The film was somewhat wasted on its audience, as they were all established breeders of pure-bred dogs, who follow very carefully the activities of all puppies they sell.

In addition, most of them stand ready to accept any dog of their breed if it is found and unclaimed.

The statistics on the life span of any given litter of puppies is unbelievable. One puppy in nine has a chance to have a home. Pets In Need says as many as eight Poodles have been turned into the shelter in a single day.

(Poodles and Shepherds are two breeds where more breeding is done by non-breeders, than by qualified persons.)

This program should be seen by PTA's, Home and School Clubs, service clubs and every other segment of the community. It would really open your eyes.

Call Mrs. Mahoney at 323-3355 and just let her give you a little rundown on the average day of this volunteer organization.

Also, if you're looking for a pet, she has a file on many breeds.

Of course, as she says, she comes out and "inspects your fence for holes" before she'll hand a dog into your care!

She's a charming little English woman who is really actively working to get dogs off the streets and into good homes.

Currently she is very enthused about a spaying clinic in southern California.

A call the other morning made me realize how much education the public needs and how little they know that they need education.

The girl had a five-year-old male dog who had never been used "at stud." She had been contacted by someone who owned a female and wanted puppies. She had no conception of the genetic background of her dog or of the prospective bride.

Since I did know her dog's background, I quizzed her some and asked her to find out about the female.

I told her of the many faults that can show up (mismarks, bad bites, monorchidism, down ears, hip displasia, coat faults, feet splaying), not to mention whelping problems, veterinary costs, and a sluggish pet market.

I've had people laugh when I suggest these faults should not be bred from, making coy remarks like "I think his protruding teeth are funny" or "I like the white spots on his back."

I cringe at these ignorant people who don't recognize that dog breeders have put thousands of hours and probably millions of dollars into developing breeds with the very characteristics which endear them to the public, only to have that same public try to see how fast they can undo long generations of selective breeders.

Pure-bred or mongrel, unless you have an unusual background, there is no possible excuse for puppies at your house.

Children have plenty of access to proper sex education; your mother-in-law can easier buy a dog like yours and you CAN fix the fence.

Any argument?

FROM THE CALIFORNIA HIGHWAY PATROL

ONE-WAY TURNS

Under a new amendment to the Vehicle Code which became effective Nov. 23, a driver may complete a right turn into any lane in the direction he is turning if his turn is made from a one-way street.

Prior to this amendment, right turns were required to be completed as close as practicable to the right-hand curb or edge of the roadway, whether or not the turn was made from a one-way street.

The California Highway Patrol, reviewing the new rules of the road enacted by the 1970 Legislature, called attention also to a section allowing a driver normally restricted to the right-hand lane to use another lane when necessary to continue upon his intended route. Normally, vehicles limited to 55 miles per hour, such as trailers, school buses, farm labor vehicles and trucks with more than two axles, must stay in the right-hand lane. However, when the highway divides for separate routes or there is a left-hand exit–the slower vehicles may use lanes other than the extreme right-hand lanes.

Another amendment, intended to reduce unsafe lane changes, requires that when a load obstructs the driver's view to the rear through the inside mirror, the vehicle must have exterior mirrors on both left and right-hand sides. However, if the load consists only of passengers, the right-hand mirror is not required.

Henceforth, a rigid coupling structure, such as a towbar, will be required when one motor vehicle tows another on a freeway. An exception is granted only to allow one vehicle to tow another from the point of disablement to the nearest and most accessible freeway exit.

Drivers in snow country will discover new speed limits this winter. A new code section authorizes prima facie speed limits of 40, 35, 30, or 25 miles per hour based on prevailing snow conditions rather than declaring only a 25 mile per hour limit under such conditions as was done under prior law.

In a move to provide greater safety at railroad crossings, the legislature approved an amendment requiring drivers approaching a railroad crossing to stop not less than 15 feet from the nearest rail, rather than 10 feet as previously allowed, when a train is approaching.

Operational noise limits for motorcycles were decreased, effective Nov. 23, from 88 decibels to 82 decibels in speed zones of 35 miles per hour or less, and from 90 decibels to 86 decibels in higher speed zones.

The same amendment decreases the operating noise limits for passenger cars from 82 to 76 decibels in speed zones under 35 miles per hour and from 86 to 82 decibels in higher speed zones.

Del Mar DAze

by Victor Castro

The greatest gift which can be given is the gift that brings joy to one's heart. Del Mar's Drama Commission is going to give this type of gift to many children in the Santa Clara Valley.

The gift is a play for elementary school children and for the retarded and handicapped children of our valley.

"Santa's Surprise" is the featured play. It will be produced by the members of the Drama Commission and directed by Penny Long. The main characters are Mark Diamond as Santa Claus, Maryann Bagatelo as Mrs. Santa Claus and Steve Hodos is Jack Frost.

Money for this play was donated by the members of Drama Commission. Hard work and time was put into this gift which makes it all the more meaningful.

If we could all give a gift which gave happiness, we could all have a Merry Christmas, and if we would keep on giving and sharing, we would also have a Happy New Year.
